- ... and record themselves reading

Thirty of our life-skills based stories for teenagers are now available as interactive apps for the iPad and iPhone.

Listen, read, record!

With these simple apps students can touch the text when they want to hear it read, and when they are confident enough, they can record themselves reading. Simple touch screen commands also develop IT skills, for example students can record their own audio comments on the illustrations - an idea that's proving very popular. Great fun, and an excellent way to engage your students.
