

One of my best friends has a dog.
I go round to his house sometimes.
“You can stroke him,” he always says. “He won’t hurt you.”
“I really don’t like dogs,” I say. “Honestly!”
He has no idea what I’m feeling.

